POLICE RAID HIM. His Barkeeper Alone of the Handreds of de his Ate Arrested for Seiling After 1 A. M. Magistrate Crane Lets Him Ge-Wiesig

Says He's Done with the Engel Crowd. Association, denounced Engel yesterday in the Easex Market police court, and announced that he was done with the Tammany Hall crowd in de Ate. His announcement caused excite-ment in the district because Wissig has a larger personal following than any other Democrat in the district. He once bent Adler, Rep., for the Assembly, and no other Tam-many man has done that. As President of the Engel Association, Wissig criticised Engel for giving all the jobs at his disposal to Republisans or Barney Rourke men.

Isidor Cohn, the Tammany candidate for Assembly in the district, was one of the stump speakers who denounced Engel's rule last year and worked for Adler. Great was Wissig's wrath this year when Engel announced that he was going to give Cohn the nomination for Assemblyman. Wissig violently protested also when Engel announced that he was going to nominate for Alderman, Max J. Porges, who two years ago, was the Republican candidate for Councilman against Engel. The last straw was the appointment of Gustav Hogers, who was campaign manager for Assemblyman Adler last year, and a leading member of the Republican organization up to a few weeks ago, to an $1.800 job in the Corporation Counsel's office under Tammany. At one of the meetings a few nights ago Wissig arose and shaking his finger at Engel said:

"What have the men got who were with you when the sky was cloudy? Nothing. What he was going to give Cohn the nomination for

"What have the men got who were with you when the sky was cloud?" Nothing. What have I got? Well, I am the President of the red lights.

Several days ago Wissig's friends held a meeting and talked of running him as an independent candidate for Alderman. On the following day the rumor spread all around the district that Wissig was going to boit the ticket. When he did not show up on Wellnesday night to preside at the meeting of the Martin Engel Association the rumor was accepted to be true. There was a consultation of some of the leading members and shortly after ward two of them went to the Eldridge street police station.

Bortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning, just as Henry Mantel, Wissig's barrender, was closing up the saloon. Detective Sheehan of the Eldridge street station entered. He is a personal friend of Mantel and Slantel served him with a glass of heer. Sheehan then arrested Mantel for violating the excise law. When Mantel was arraigned yesterdaylat Essex Market, the court room was filled with politicians of de Ate. Just before the case was called one of Engle's election captains approached Wissig in the court room and said:

"Come over and see the boss. Everything will he all right." the sky was cloudy? Nothing, What I got? Well, I am the President of the

in the court room and said:

"Come over and see the boss. Everything will be all right."

The message that Wissig sent back would not look well in print. After hearing the evidence, Magistrate Crane said angrily to the detective:

"You could make an arrest of this kind in detective: "Tou could make an arrest of this kind in "Tou could make an arrest of this kind in "Due thousand places in New York. Why should you pick out this place? I can take you to places all over this city and in this district which you never bother. This man is discretely charged."

Wissig said in the court room: "Any reasonable man in the district knows that this arrest was made for political reasons. They thought I was going to run for Alderman and I suppose orders were issued to hound me. I am done with Tammany Hall politics. Hereafter I am going to be an independent citizen. If I was against Engel he took a poor way to get me back."

Wissig afterward said to a Sun reporter: "I am still a Fourteenth street Tammany Hall man, but I am no longer a Martin Engel Tammany Hall man. I won't bolt the ticket. I am still a loyal Democrat, but these people down here ain't the whole cheese."

Charles Auhl, 25 years old, of 1163 Myrtle avenue. Brooklyn, an employee of Philip Corell's leather factory at Floyd street and Myrtle avenue, was suffocated yesterday by

He had worked at the factory for two years and for a year he had been in charge of a small naphtha vat in which sheepskins are placed to be prepared for book binding and the making of pockstbooks and fancy articles. The vat is about three feet deep, five feet long and three feet wide. The naphtha in it yesterday was about three inches deep.

Auhl was seen working at the vatabout 11:45 o'clock, when he placed some sheerskins in it. At 12 o'clock the men in the factory stopped work. John Koch, with whom Auhl always ate at noon, noticed that his companion was not around and started to search for him, necompanied by Foreman Valentine Johnson and others of the men. They found Auhl ying face upwards on top of the hides. His back was barely wet by the naphtha and be had apparently died without struggling.

Tighe, who says he is a grandson of the testator, to have the probate of the will set aside. The contestant says that he is a son of Michael Tighe who was a son of "Sir" Richard. It did not appear where he aprang from or why he did not appear in the probate proceedings. The beneficiaries say that the contestant cannot establish that he is a grandson of the testator and that they have no fear of his proceeding. The beneficiaries finally agreed to give to about half the original contestants $400.000 and this money has been distributed among them. The present contestant asks that the probate be set aside because he was not served with citation.

The 393 Bridge employees, who lost their jobs over a year ago, when the management of the railroad over the structure passed under the control of the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad, have lost the test suit brought by Patrick J. McCarthy, a former conductor, for reinstatement. At the hearing of the case before Supreme Court Justice Marean in Brooklyn yesterday Bridge Commissioner Sheatestified that the change of management was made in good faith and resulted in a saving of $400,000 a year to the city. While reserving his decision. Justice Marean intimated that he would find that the local Bridge road had been abolished and that, as its service had not been renewed, McCarthy and the other employees had been discharged in good faith. Counsel for McCarthy announced that the case would be carried to the Court of Appeals. the railroad over the structure passed under of Their Conduct. Two firemen were dismissed yesterday from the New York Fire Department for cowardice These are the first dismissals for cowardice in this city in nineteen years. The men found guilty by Commissioner Scannell yesterday are Patrick R. McCollum and Louis Loeffer. Phil Wissig. President of the Martin Engel Both belonged to Engine 2, of West Fortymissioner on charges preferred by Battalion Chief Binns. The charges were corroborated by the Foreman and the Assistant Foreman, and by another member of their own company. The accused men had practically nothing to say for themselves. A part of the charge was that they were under the influence of liquor at the time of the disobedience of orders that led to the charge of cowardice.

Chief Binns's complaint was that at a fire in one of the upper stories of the building at 517-523 West Forty-fifth street, on Oct. 5, the men each refused to take a line of hose as far into the building as he ordered. He was on the spot himself and able to declare that the hose could be carried where he wanted it. Fireman Smalley corroborated the Battalion Chief. Both McCollum and Loeffler were pipe men. Binns is his complaint says that by reason of their refusal to take the hose in, the building was endangered and that there was also danger of the spread of the fire to other buildings. The fire hurned two and one-half hours.

Loeffler not only refused to take the pipe where he was ordered, saying he would report sick, first, but he deliberately unscrewed the nozzle from the pipe he was carrying and handed it to the Chief, saying: "Here!" This not only made the line of hose useless but made it necessary to send an order to the engine to stop pumping, and the Chief had to call another engine and company to repair the loss to the fighting forces.

The men told the Commissioner that they each refused to take a line of bose as far into forces.

The men told the Commissioner that they had gone in as far as the Chief had gone and had done their duty as far as they could, but in the face of the testimony against them becould not see that their assertions were well founded. The last previous dismissal from the department for cowardice was on June 16, 1880, when on Chief Bonner's charge the then Foreman of Engine 7 was declared guilty at a fire downtown where he failed to obey the Chief's orders. He is now in business in the city.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THURSDAY, Oct. 19. To-day's stock market reflected a considerble reduction of the short interest and also a disposition on the part of traders for long account to take some of their profits. Notwith-standing these circumstances the market was very steady until the last hour of business when a further advance in sterling exchange gave color to rumers of impending exports of specie and encouraged bear operators to renew their attacks upon values.

The possibility of gold shipments in the near future naturally causes speculative interest to centre upon the foreign exchange market. which has steadily risen until it is near the point at which such shipments might be made without loss to those engaging in the transaction. As a matter of fact, foreign banks, owing to the unusual condition of affairs abroad, will not wait until gold can be procured from this country without a loss on the exchange involved in the operation. They are willing to pay a small premium for the precious metal by virtually going short of exchange here at figures a little below those at which gold would be normally required to complete the transac-tions. As noted in this column this morning. orders of that character were received here several days ago and, it is believed, are still in force.

Conditions that would prevent their execution would be a fresh advance in money rates here or a continuance of easier money in London. The London money market, according to cable advices, is beginning to feel the return flow of cash from the interior, and that may hold the money market down. Still the fact should not be overlooked that the English Gov-ernment is likely to enter the home market soon to secure funds to defray the expenses of the South African war.

The money market at this centre is not likely to receive any supplies from the interior for some time to come, and at the same time the exchange market is kept at a high level by delayed foreign purchases of cotton and by curtailment of transatlantic freight facilities for the outward movement of staple products generally. The situation is an unusual one and full of interest to bankers and the business community as well as to speculators on the Stock Exchange.

The trading in stocks was fairly large and well distributed. It resulted in lower prices for the great majority of issues. The more noteworthy net declines were in Brooklyn Rapid Transit and the other local traction stocks, in Pullman's Palace Car and several of the less active issues. The average net loss was less than 1 per cent, and can not be considered abnormal in view of the Improvement that has taken place since the beginning of the week.

A considerable number of stocks that received more attention than they have for some time past closed materially higher than yester. day, among them American Car and Foundry issues, American Linseed Oil Issues, Colorado and Southern first preferred, Hocking Valley issues, Illinois Central, International Pape common, and Tennessee Coal and Iron. The final demonstration against the market did not seem to dislodge much stock, still the closing was in the main heavy.

Cotton ran up early in the trading owing to higher cables and renewed ourside buying, as well as considerable covering of shorts on the light receipts, the tendency to reduce crop estimates, the rumors of a large short interest in October for foreign and American account, and the firminess of Southern markets. Later on, however, the improvement was lost, owing to heavy realizing by local, Wall street and Southern houses, who accepted handsome profits. Some, too, had been looking for a rise in Liverpool of 5 points instead of 3, receipts outside of Teass are about as large as last year the weather was generally fair and warmer, and thus favorable for picking and growing the top crop and, finally, taking advantage of long liquidation, foreign houses sold short to aconsiderable extent, and on the way down stop or dera were reached. At the decline foreign houses covered freely, as the light receipts make even the most radical bears inclined to jurrate a very conservative policy for the time being.
